Dear Sir or Ma'am:

I am writing to enthusiastically recommend Nicholas Galus for a summer internship opportunity.

I have only known Nick since the beginning of this school year, but he has made quite the remarkable impression. He sets the standard for the term 'student athlete'. His natural intelligence and curiosity is paired with a work ethic that is not often seen in high school juniors. I currently have the pleasure of having him in a dual enrollment Precalculus class that is administered through UT Austin. The course content is very rigorous and requires a considerable time commitment outside of school hours, and a willingness to use available resources for help to be successful. Since the first day of school, Nick has never been afraid to ask questions, even if it is just to make sure he understands the concept. He also works and communicates very well with others, whether it be a peer or an adult.

As I am sure you have seen on his application and resume, he already has a myriad of certifications and experience. Combine that experience with his time management and innate desire to be successful, and I believe Nick would make an excellent addition to your team of summer interns.

If you would like to discuss Nick's qualifications further or if you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Kind regards,
